

Global Studies Programme

Online Information Event
November 4th, 2022

Programme

14:00 – 14:10 Introduction & Icebreaker activity

14:10 – 14:20 Presentation on the programme

14:20 – 14:55 Time for questions in break-out rooms

14:55 – 15:00 Concluding remarks & feedback

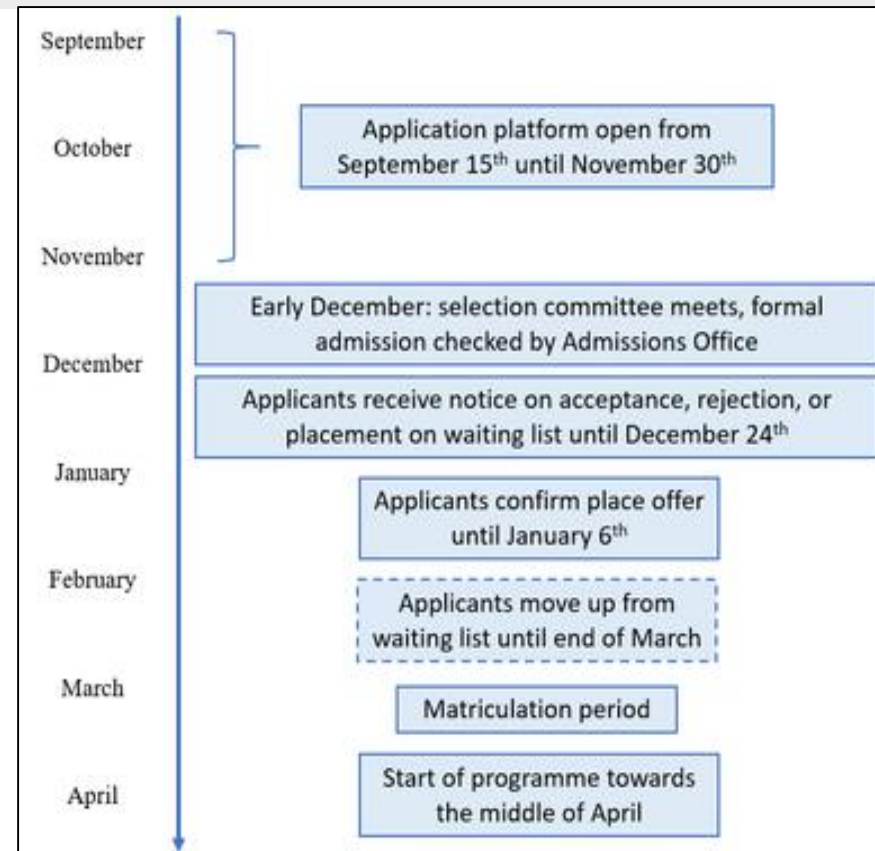

The Global Studies Programme

- The application process
- The participating universities
- The time line
- The modules
- The students
- Preparations and organization
- Career prospects

The application process

Required documents:

- CV
- Motivation letter
- Research proposal
- Bachelor degree + transcript
- Proof of English proficiency
- 2 letters of recommendation (template!)

The participating universities

University of Freiburg

- One of the oldest universities in Europe – and one of the sunniest cities in Germany!
- 3 compulsory classes and one elective seminar + additional preparation for the terms abroad
- University buildings in the city centre
- 3 mentors (experienced GSP students) help you get started

Full description here:
<https://www.gsp.uni-freiburg.de/institutions>

The participating universities

University of Cape Town

- Oldest university in South Africa
- Campus at the foot of Table Mountain
- Various courses to choose from

FLACSO-Argentina

- Academic focus on Latin America from a global perspective
- 4 obligatory classes + possibility to take other classes in Spanish
- Vibrant cultural life in Buenos Aires

The participating universities

Chulalongkorn University

- 4 obligatory classes focusing on South-east Asia
- Many other English-speaking programmes

Jawaharlal Nehru University

- Many classes to choose from, interdisciplinary offer
- Rich cultural life in New Delhi

The time line

Semesters / Place	Time	Estimated tuition fees
1. Freiburg	April 2023 – July 2023	1,500€ (non-EU students)
2. Buenos Aires or Cape Town	July/August 2023 – December 2023	FLACSO: 950€ UCT: 1,500-1,750€
3. New Delhi or Bangkok	January 2024 – May 2024	Delhi: 1.200$ Bangkok: 800-1000€
Internship	June – October 2024
4. Freiburg	November 2024 – March 2025	1,500€ (non-EU students)
5. Potential 5 th semester	April 2025 – August 2025 (depending on registration for thesis). Note that students need to be matriculated in Freiburg for two final examination semesters.	1,500€ (non-EU students)

The modules

- 4 Modules:
 - Globalization
 - Global Governance
 - Cultural Change
 - Methodology

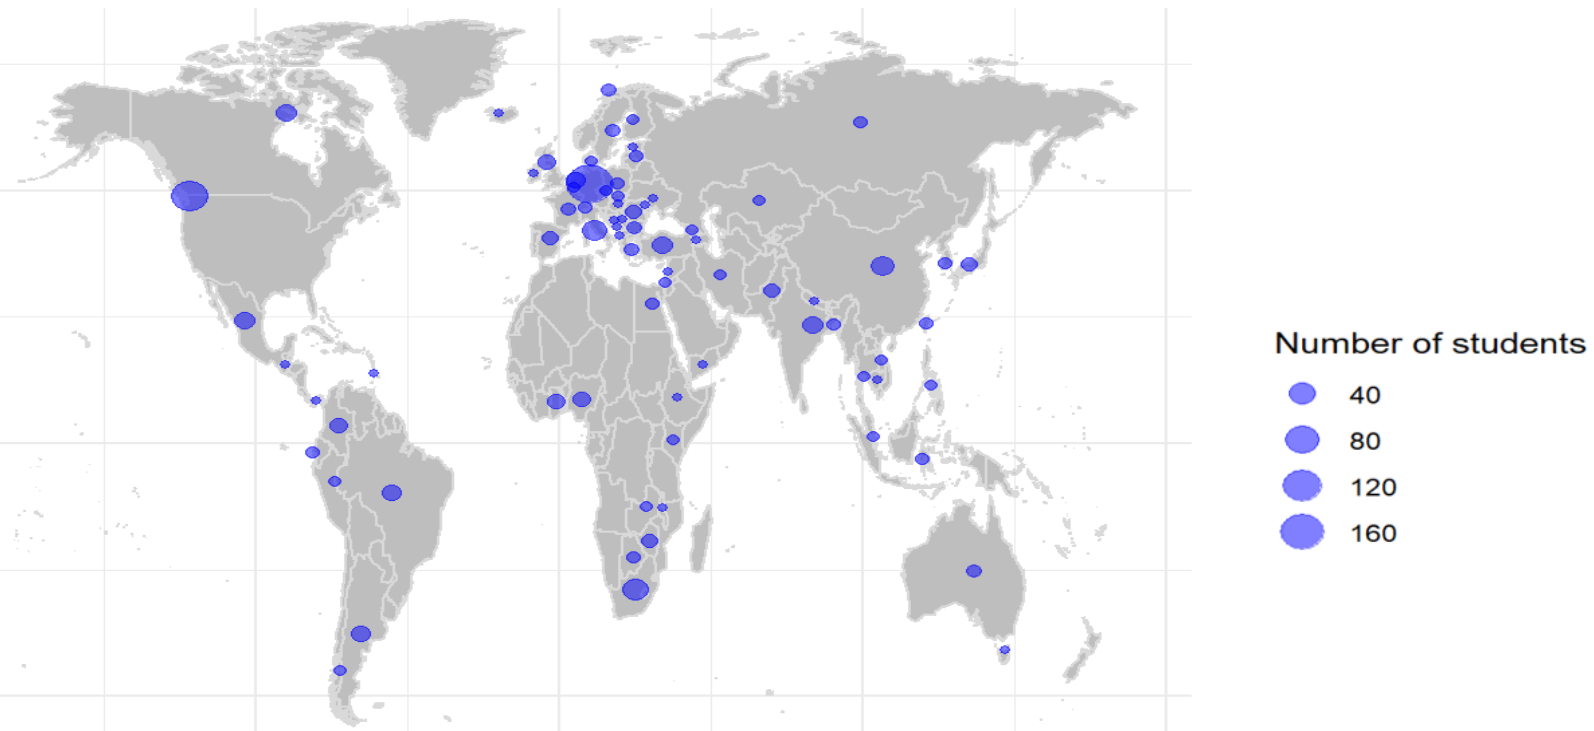

The modules

Example: Lecture “Global and Regional Transformations” by Prof. Manuela Boatca (1st term)

- Part 1: Comparative overview of available approaches to study global entanglements (e.g. postcolonial/decolonial approaches)
- Part 2: Illustrating interdependencies between regions by studying global development tendencies (e.g. “Islam in the West” or “China and the rise of the Global South”)
- Example of reading: Gutiérrez Rodríguez, Encarnación / Boatcă, Manuela / Costa, Sérgio (2010): Decolonizing European Sociology. Transdisciplinary Approaches. Farnham: Ashgate

The students

Preparation & organization

The Global Studies Programme is a rewarding, but also a challenging experience – both academically as well as organizationally.

You should:

- be able to autonomously apply and provide for a visa for three countries
- inform yourself about necessary bureaucracy/laws/insurances etc.
- be able to organize your own travels from one university to another
- look and apply for an internships and scholarships independently

See the full expectation checklist on our website.

Career prospects

- Industry & business
- NGOs
- International Organizations
- National governments
- Academia
- Charities
- Journalism
- ...

Break-out sessions

- Room 1: Master thesis, content of the programme
- Room 2: in-person experience at JNU
- Room 3: in-person experience at FLACSO
- Manuela Boatca: selection committee, content of the programme, teaching in Freiburg
- Hanna Mahler: general and organisational questions, application formalities

Conclusion

- Find further information on our website www.gsp.uni-freiburg.de (see also our Twitter account)
- Reach the GSP office at: gspinfo@mail.uni-freiburg.de or come to office hours
- We can connect you to current students (maybe even from your home country) for further questions
- Reminder: Application deadline is November 30th, 2022